DR. WILLIAMS OUTLINES POLICY AND PROGRAM IN FIRST FACULTY ADDRESS

To assume the leadership of any institution of learning is to become conscious of privilege and obligation. It is with this consciousness that I assume the presidency of Ohio Northern University. In greeting you as colleagues and bidding you welcome to our common task, may I express the hope that you, too, share this glorious consciousness—a consciousness of duty, conjoined with privilege, the privilege of ministering to the minds and spirits of a new generation of men and women.

To those who have been on the faculties of the university for many years, I extend a welcome once again to the familiar tasks, tasks made doubly precious, I am sure, because of the precious memories of past achievements; and to those of you who like myself are new, I extend a challenge and a welcome to new experiences and adventures.

It would be altogether remiss and ungracious on my part if I proceed further without pausing for a moment at the gateway of the past. Even in busy London I observed that men hesitated a moment at the great Cenotaph in Whitehall to pay tribute to the glorious dead. We are inheritors of splendid legacies. Spirits that are gloriously immortal look down on our great enterprise.

Men and women have labored here and into their labors we have entered. There have been presidents here, vice-presidents, deans, professors and instructors here who have built with their power in scholarship, their devotion in religion, the institution that is today around us. Men great in spirit of benefaction have contributed of their substance to make these colleges possible. And to all these architects of the life of the intellect and the spirit we are truly grateful.

Of my predecessor I can only speak in the terms of highest praise. Like another Christopher Wren his monument is around him. His labors have always been heroic and in some cases they have touched magnificence.

Ohio Northern University is unique among the institutions of Ohio. It has a career as interesting as it has been eventful.

Its graduates everywhere are a witness to this truth. But like all institutions it has its phases of growth, its moods and tenses of development. Under the presidency of Lehr it passed through its pioneer stage; Dr. Smith has brought it safely through its period of transition. It enters now increasingly on the phase of its educational development.

It is this third and present stage that commands our attention. For after all it is not enough to recite history; we must make it. It is this that made our predecessors great; it will do no less for us.

Educational Policies

On the gateway of an old castle in a very old town that I know very well there is a motto written, which being translated means, "Henceforth." Perhaps it may remind us that our golden age comes tomorrow. Henceforth we should strive to achieve all the intellectual and spiritual realizations for which the groundwork has been prepared. Yesterday saw done the work that yesterday demanded. Today demands of us work that we can do. Shall we ask ourselves the question: What is this work we are called upon to do?

Let us consider the first place that the college and the university occupy in modern life.

Where is there a greater Babel than in the realm of education? We are all agreed that education is good, but what is education? This is precisely the point in dispute. Time was when we were sure here as everywhere, but today who is sure of anything? Matthew Arnold could define it in terms of classical mastery, but then he had never anticipated the development of what we call American civilization.

One may revel in classical knowledge and those who have tasted its fruits know that they are good, but we also know that this world is not the world of aristocrats. It is primarily and increasingly an age of industrial democracy. Ideas and theories that served a former generation can no longer be of service to us. At least that is what the modernist in education tells us. And the modernist thinks he is in the saddle.

On the other hand, there is the advocate of culture, of sweetness and light, who recognizes that we are living in a civilization of change, who consequently is willing to accommodate his theories to the demands of a utilitarian civilization and goes in for compromise. His problems, like that of all mediators, is difficult. He cannot be conservative enough to suit the conservatives nor modern enough to please the modernists. And yet much is to be said for him as the patient advocate of a modus vivendi in the realm of education.

Finally, there is the out and out utilitarian, the man whose eyes are not in the ends of the earth, but strictly and constantly on the cash register and the adding machine. He is a realist in what he thinks is a real world. His business is to avail himself of the main chance. His name is legion; his nature participates in omnipresence. Whether he is omniscient also remains to be seen. Posterity has not yet had opportunity to pass judgment on these contemporaries of ours or upon ourselves.

In view of these possible positions what can we say regarding our own policy of education at Ohio Northern: If we cannot educate men wholly for leisure, if we find the mediatorial way increasingly difficult and are compelled in this respect in the phrase of William James to have the air of men who are fighting a slow retreat, and if we refuse to become altogether and quite utilitarian, what is there left for us to do?

Certainly we cannot be content, even in an industrial age, to send men and women into the world simply as specialists and technicians, with no appreciation of the interests and values that contribute so immeasurably to the enrichment of life; nor can we continue the pathetic policy of sending forth from our educational ark the dove that finds no resting place for the soles of its feet.

It is possibly these very limitations that will suggest the clue to whatever policy may be tentatively announced, for education like science cannot have the air of finality or infallibility. This conception belongs to other realms and other days than ours. The thread that may lead us safely out of the labyrinth of theory into the open sunlight of practical fact is borrowed from philosophy. The thinker who has reflected on the sciences is curious to determine what the meaning of things is. He is on the quest for purpose. And it is the idea of purpose, the teleological view of life that must give us the open sesame to reality.

Whatever else we may say, it is agreed that men and women should be educated with purposes in mind. Objectively, purposes may be stated in terms of ends. These ends will be determined by the special aptitudes and interests of the individual and by the challenge and opportunities of the time.

The college man and woman should be educated for leadership, for positions of importance in the professional and industrial life. This does not involve a wholly non-cultural view of education and it certainly excludes a view that is wholly cultural. What it does positively imply as an imperative requirement in education we shall shortly see by reference to our actual situation in the world of college and university interests.

Ohio Northern University is a unique institution. This is not flattery, but fact. Certainly, if survey of the church institutions in the State of Ohio is made, its uniqueness will pass unchallenged. If a university be defined in our American sense as a group of colleges, devoted to arts, the professions and commerce, then Ohio Northern is a true university. As such it offers a program embodying what the Liberal Arts College regards as essential and in addition courses that the college itself cannot give, courses that can only be given in the professional schools.

The Liberal Arts College by its cultural emphasis can redeem contemporary life from its curse of boredom; it can rescue us from the strident objectivity of a world that is seeking to forget itself. It can redress the balance between the inner and the outer life of man. But in addition it can gear its culture into the professional interests of the schools. It can, in other words, prepare men and women for definite achievement in definite lines of endeavor. Its curriculum can and should be organized with these definite objectives in mind.

Thus it does come about that the professional schools, and no less so the college of liberal arts, tend more and more to make their courses specific with the double objective of preparing our graduates to enter business and professional life on one hand, and on the other to enter the better graduate schools of the country. Consequently, in order to make the liberal arts work more effective and more harmonious with the demands of time, we shall hope to work out in the college, courses that definitely prepare our students for life and for living.

The theological student should find here a pre-theological course worked out in conference with theological seminaries; the student who wants a course in business administration or secretarial work should find a course here that will admit without loss of time to the professional world or the appropriate graduate school. If there are courses in the fine arts, why should there not be eventually also courses in home economics? Already we have the arts-law and similar courses, and these are sound.

The fact is that we can no longer take the whole of learning for our province. More and more we must seek so to construct our curriculum so that men and women can learn to handle the tools that shape the civilization of our time. Mediævilism in the twentieth century is as much out of place in education as it is in religion.

In other words, it is important to supplement the analyses of science with the syntheses of philosophy, and to add to the appreciations of art the evaluations of religion, but it is equally important to be Socratic in our concepts, and to define only that which is good for something as the good; and for us, this means that education shall prepare men for life and for living.

In the second place, Ohio Northern is somewhat unique in a less complimentary sense. This is a world in which educational standards are increasingly stressed. Like a second Desdemona, clinging to the allegiances of yesterday and anxious also to attain the better goods of our present day, we have perceived a divided affection. But the age is still Darwinian in its practice, whatever we may say about its theory. Unless we can do a piece of work better than our neighbors, we likewise shall perish.

Our task is not that of mass production; it is the achievement of qualitative excellence. Hence increasingly we must have respect for standards. May I be specific and state in detail what our problem here is? Faculties are prone to contentment and conservatism. But can we be content in a world like this in finality? Our own scholarship should constantly be enriched. From time to time there should be visible evidence of our achievements. Our reading should keep us abreast of the literature of our field. Our own intellectual curiosity about knowledge and life should not be be deadened or dimmed.

A faculty that is studious and holds learning in reverence spreads a contagion among the student body that is wholesome. Student bodies are easily satisfied. Their minds are full of a thousand interests. Our conceptions of standards become theirs. Hence the necessity of continued study, of production whenever possible, of love for high scholarship and achievement for ourselves. If this come to be our general attitude toward ourselves it will be easy for us to insist on standards for students.

Administrative Policies

But apart from this it is to be the policy of the university as rapidly as is consistent with good administration to stress definite policies covering the following points:

(a) Admission of students. Ohio Northern must not be looked on as a haven of refuge for ships in distress, no matter what flag they fly.

(b) Standards of admission both in theory and practice should conform to the best tradition of the standardizing agencies.

(c) Selective admission should be practiced as soon as is convenient and consistent with sound financial policy. I am sorry to make this qualification, but we live in a world of realities.

(d) Admission should eventually be restrictive. We cannot undertake to educate the world, no matter what we should like to do.

In respect to the internal educational machinery, we should see to it that:

(a) There is recognized the division of labor which increasing specialization demands. Deans, registrars, heads of departments, professors, instructors should not only be recognized as to rank, but their duties should be clearly defined with reference to the general administration of the university and with the various departments themselves.

(b) A policy of co-operation and helpfulness should be followed toward the student, but definite steps should be taken as early as possible to undertake studies in vocational guidance, the further development of our placement work, studies in social and religious adjustment, the actual use of placement and intelligence tests in the sectioning of classes on the basis of ability and achievement, and the development of real advisory conferences in the delicate and difficult years of college life.

(c) Definite recognition of the need of business method and policy in running the university. Budgets, budget quotas, strict adherence to assignments in expenditures, economy in administration, careful handling of equipment and responsibility for its safe-keeping, studious co-operation in the best interests of the university in co-operating with the administrative forces in the care of buildings. All these are obvious, but too often forgotten items.

(d) Development of the social and religious well being of the campus. Ohio Northern is a church institution. The social and religious interests of such a college should be distinctly wholesome and constructive. Men and women on the faculty of such a college should be loyal to the best traditions of such an institution. Faithfulness in respect to chapel assignments and attendance to church and civic obligations all redound to the benefit of good order and reputation. These things need not always be stressed, but they find a convenient place here.

Future Plans and Problems

In respect to the external policy we may say tentatively that:

(a) We shall seek to enlarge the equipment of the university as the occasion demands. Ultimately there should be here a women's dormitory, a new library, laboratories for biology, chemistry and physics. There should be an adequate social union on the campus for the interests of independent students. I am especially anxious about the library and the dormitory for women, but all these buildings are necessary for our ultimate development. We should also eventually visualize the development of adequate quarters for art and home economics. We should plan adequate equipment for the colleges of pharmacy and engineering as soon as possible.

(b) Endowment is imperative. Estimates will vary. I am not prepared to state how much we need, but our minimum should be one to one and one-half million dollars. Eventually we should aim at possibly five millions of endowment.

(c) Policies in relationship to the faculty should ultimately visualize complete uniformity of salary standards with an upward tendency. We should begin to think ahead to sabbatical years, nine months teaching, old age pensions and annuities. These are all dreams now, but the world of today was once a dream.

(d) In relationship to the world we live in we should see to it as early as possible that we are without question in the eyes of the Ohio College association, seek membership with the North Central association and get recognition from our Senate. We should visualize the farther reaches of American association membership and membership in the association of University Women. We should do all we can to foster concrete relationships with the graduate schools. These also are dreams that should eventually be translated into the coinage of reality.

(e) Active co-operation with the supporting conferences, with the large body of alumni, encouragement of the project to employ an alumni secretary responsible to the alumni; development of cordial relations with our sister institutions in athletic and other relationships. All these are worthy and within our immediate reach as ends to be coveted and attained.

(f) Caution about the adoption of doubtful policies before thorough study. Social policies and ideals vary. Let us investigate before we act.

The statements made in the barest outline above ought possibly to find brief summary in a general way so that we may carry with us a clearer concept of our main and imperative task.

1. Finances, distasteful as they may be to discuss, are after all the bed rock facts with which we have to deal. Deficits are dislikeable things. They have a haunting quality that is not far from the extremely prosaic. Hence the constant need of economy in the expenditure of money. It is a homely and trite thing to say that a dollar cannot be twice spent. But there is much economic soundness in this. Before we can command the respect of those who have money to give we must put our financial house in order. This we propose to do.

2. The development of institutional interests. Here again in a strongly individualistic people it is difficult without indelicacy to make oneself plain. But the institution must come ahead of individuals in all our reckonings. Not that we are careless of individuals. Indeed the institution should serve them, but Ohio Northern is greater after all than her servants or her sons. There is a haunting problem in philosophy concealed in this enigma, but the practice of life demands here a certain allegiance to the mind of Plato and Paul.

3. The constant solicitude for scholarship and achievement already commented on. What is a university without learning, deep, varied and modern? What is a faculty without approved scholarship, what is a student body without constant enrichment of intellect and outlook on life? What more needs to be said here on this point?

4. Development of the social and religious aptitude for modern life without which the student is lost and apprehensive even if not lost in such a world as this. The amusement problem is something more than a problem in campus administration. Sooner or later even those of us whose interest in religion is intense will need to recognize this fact too.

5. Preparation of curricula that will increase the students' power of adjustment in the world of books, machines, men, manners and morals. Life demands happy adjustments. Can we make these adjustments more easily possible for our undergraduate and graduate men and women?

In conclusion of this brief statement of program and immediate policy, may I urge upon you all the spirit of real service. It is true that we must work for money, but after all ours is the rare privilege of intellectual, esthetic and moral quests that should tune us with the finest idealisms. I know of no greater privilege than that of giving instruction to a growing mind, or shaping habits of thought in developing adolescence. This is a service that there is little compensation for.

You are in a great lineage and succession. What can be done to make our achievement greater should be done. What we can do to give you a greater sense of security and permanence of dignity and respect will be done. Standing as we do at the beginning of a great adventure together, I feel with Tennyson's Ulysses:

"It may be that the gulfs will wash us down,

It may be we shall reach the happy isles
And see the great Achilles whom we knew.
That which we are, we are;

One equal temper of heroic hearts,
Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will

To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield."

Alumnus Heads Dedication of Fallen Timbers Park

Commemorating the battle of Fallen Timbers on August 20, 1794, a beautiful monument was dedicated to General "Mad Anthony" Wayne on September 7, 1929, near Maumee, Ohio. The principal speaker on that occasion was the Secretary of War, James W. Good.

Following the dedicatory services, a banquet was held at Toledo in the Commodore Perry Hotel, at which Secretary Good delivered an address paying official tribute to General Wayne's military exploits and his character as a patriot, and enumerated the fruits of Wayne's victory against the Indians at Fallen Timbers.

The toastmaster of the evening was Grove Patterson, a son of O. N. U. Mr. Patterson, a former president of the Ohio Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, is the editor of the Toledo Blade.

Webb Doing Research Work

A. R. Webb, professor in the college of engineering, has accepted an assistantship in the department of hydraulic research of the University of Michigan. This position is in the form of a scholarship offered by Professor King of that department.

Professor Webb will have five assistants to work under his direction and is allowed to select his own line of research. He has been given a leave of absence for the present school year by Ohio Northern. He expects to return to Northern to teach during the next summer quarter.

HOME COMING

Never in the history of Ohio Northern has there been more interest shown or more elaborate pre-season preparations been made for homecoming than obtained this year and culminated in the greatest weekend the town and campus has ever had the pleasure of experiencing when hundreds of graduates and former students returned to the scene of their school days.

On every hand one could hear the oft repeated wish, "I hope this nice weather continues over Sunday"; "I am going to cut all social engagements until after homecoming, as our house will be filled with company and I just must get ready for them"; "How did the team show up today? Hope they can win, so our visiting friends will not go back home disappointed."

Not only were citizens raking leaves and washing windows, but the officials of the university were frantically decorating the interior of the buildings, cleaning floors, grading the Presser Building lawn, and enlarging the equipment of many of the departments.

Not only was the material side of the town and campus beautified and enlarged for this unusual occasion, but the very air was surcharged with a feeling of joyful expectancy on the part of those anticipating the pleasure of meeting the new president, Dr. Robert Williams, and visiting the new Presser Music Hall and Taft Gymnasium.

The old boys and girls began to trek Adaward as early as Thursday. A goodly number were in evidence the following day. The program began officially on when the fog raiser took place in Lehr Auditorium at 7:30 P. M. This was listed as a rally and pep meeting, and none present or within a radius of five blocks questions the success of the occasion.

Yells were given; songs were sung; and rallying speeches by Thomas J. Smull (conference eligibility official), L. H. Gardner ("N" Association representative), Coaches Miller, C. Lamb and H. Lamb, concluding with a splendid address by President Williams.

This meeting was followed by an immense bonfire on Athletic Field. The freshmen had spent a lot of time and effort on foraging wood of every conceivable type and shape to form a cone-shaped heap nearly 30 feet in height. With a full moon and balmy weather, this proved to be a night long to be remembered.

Saturday Morning

found a score of golf enthusiasts on Spring Valley Golf Course (Kenton) vying with each other for honors. In announcing the winners, Edgar J. Brookhart, secretary of the Board of Trustees, was given first place and Earl F. Boyle, past president of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter, second place. The judges withheld the booby prize, claiming there were too many candidates.

A pleasant ovation was the provision for the special entertainment of "returning alumnae, wives, mothers and sweethearts." They were given a tour through the new buildings from 9:00 to 10:30 A. M. An informal reception was tendered them in the Y. W. C. A. rooms from 10:30 to 11:00 A. M. and a musicale in Willis Auditorium (Presser Hall) from 11:00 to 11:30 A. M.

The judges on Fraternity House decorations made their tour of inspection from 10:30 to 11:00 A. M. The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity was awarded the prize. Their design represented a ship which was christened "Greater Northern."

Saturday Luncheons

The "N" Men luncheon held in the private dining room of the University Cafeteria from 11:30 to 1:30 found a response far beyond the expectations of those in charge of the affair. Expecting 25 or 30 returning lettermen, they were greeted by nearly a hundred, extending over a quarter of a century of varsity participants. President Williams, Coaches Miller, C. Lamb and H. Lamb responded with short talks.

A buffet luncheon was served in the Brown Building during the same period for the alumni in general.

If the reader of this article has not visited Ada since the advent of the automobile, he can scarcely conceive the picture that would greet him on Ada's streets following the noon luncheon hour.

Saturday Afternoon

As the time rapidly approached for the main event of the homecoming—the football game between Otterbein and Northern—the streets were congested for a radius of a half-mile to the entrances of Athletic Field with autos of every description—sport models with rumble seat filled with happy young couples; coaches and sedans filled with families and neighbors. Both the north and south stands were filled with loyal devotees of the home or visiting team. Souvenir program, candy and sandwich vendors were crying their wares. The All-Ohio Band entered the south gate followed by a parade of nearly 100 former varsity lettermen. Cheer upon cheer arose when our team ran upon the field, clad in black and orange regalia. An airplane soared back and forth over the stadium. Sport writers predicted a victory for the home boys upon data gathered from the former performances of the respective teams. There is often a "slip between the cup and the lip," however, for while our team had spurts of brilliancy, yet it seemed to lack "that old-time punch to push it over the goal line" when the opportunity seemed to be present. An unfortunate bit of holding on the part of one of our boys when we were trying for the extra point after a touchdown changed the score from a tie to a defeat. With Artie Warren, one of our fastest backfield men, out of the game with a bad knee, and Dick Long suffering a broken bone in his ankle during the game, the tide turned against us, and we were unable to stem it and avoid defeat.

Although keenly disappointed, the crowds as a whole were happy to have met each other on such a beautiful day and under such pleasant circumstances, that those who felt obliged to leave immediately after the game started for the four points of the compass with revived memories of former days.

Saturday Evening

An adjourned meeting of the Alumni Association was held in the University Cafeteria at 6:30 P. M. to further consider the employment of a full-time secretary, a campaign for funds for such an office being conducted the past year by the various alumni clubs. Inasmuch as the quota of $3,000 (to meet a similar amount provided by the university trustees) has not been obtained at this time, it was unanimously decided to employ a part-time recording clerk to help the present alumni officers to endeavor to secure a complete roster of alumni and former students. The expenses of this officer to be underwritten by the Alumni Association with the general funds acquired through dues in order to keep the Special Full-Time Secretary Fund intact until such time as it shall reach the $3,000 objective.

The festive occasion was brought to a close by the annual Homecoming Show in Lehr Auditorium at 8:00 P. M. The program was mighty well rendered by the members of each organization participating. The "All-Ohio" Band, the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs, the Northern Dramatic Club all contributed to an evening of pleasure and profit.

Sunday Forenoon

found a number of the alumni yet in Ada. The local Sunday Schools and churches were visited by many of these holdovers. Expressions of appreciation for a continuance of the beautiful weather until late Sunday afternoon could be heard on every hand.

New System of Instruction Successful

After a trial of one year in the McKinley Junior High School at Kenosha, Wis., the special group system of instruction has been declared successful.

The idea is to set aside a school room for the use of a small group of children who are backward socially and mentally. Here they can be studied by an especially trained instructor whose duty it becomes to find out what is wrong with each individual child and to take steps to correct the handicap if possible. At the McKinley School Mr. H. W. Morton is the instructor. He is a graduate from Ohio Northern University and is now working for his master's degree at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Morton finds that the chief reason for maladjustment seems to be bad home environment and parental negligence. In most cases parents, after being requested to help their children by improving home conditions, simply will not co-operate.

O. N. U. Radio Station Is Heard in Australia

Wireless code messages sent from code station WSALT, operated by the Ohio Northern University Radio Club, are being received in New South Wales, Australia, according to a postal card received from that district.

The card was sent on July 6 and arrived on August 6. The wireless message was received "clearly and steadily" by David Hearps, an amateur radio fan.

A report was also received that the messages were being picked up by the Gulf Radio School at New Orleans, La.

Moving Day on the Campus

As soon as repairs are completed on the old music building, formerly the Wesleyan Methodist Church, the structure is to be occupied by the biological and botanical departments of the university, Dr. Williams announced September 19.

H. E. Huber, dean of the college of liberal arts and professor of biology, is supervising the reconstruction of the building. W. O. Shelly, contractor, is in charge.

The lower floor is to be devoted entirely to the study of botany, and will include a laboratory for botany and plant sciences with reading and reference rooms.

The upper floor is to be fully equipped for the study of biology. A zoological laboratory will be located at the west side. The northeast part of the upper floor will contain the anatomy and embryology laboratory. The southeast room will be used for stocks and as a technician's room. Special problem work will be conducted here for those interested in research studies.

The tower room is to be used as a herbarium. Insect and small animal collections will also be deposited there. One room will be fitted up as a "dark" room in which to illustrate work by slides and to determine the effect of light and darkness upon different plants and animals.

Mathematics Department to Move

The department of mathematics will soon be moved from the first floor of the Dukes Building to the quarters now occupied by the botanical and biological department on the second floor of Dukes.

After this shift the department of physics will be moved from its cramped quarters in the basement of Hill Building to the quarters now occupied by the department of mathematics. Under the new arrangement the department of physics will be consolidated in the Dukes Building.

Library Moves to Brown in October

Ohio Northern's library, long housed in cramped quarters on second floor of the Lehr Memorial, will be moved to its new home in the Brown Building in October, Dr. Williams announced.

Brown, formerly used as a gymnasium, is to undergo extensive repairs. For the present the balconies will remain and will be fitted with reading tables. The walls are to be redecorated and lights are to be dropped from the ceiling over the reading room on the main floor. Stacks will be placed on the north side.

A social center for women will be established as soon as possible in the rooms vacated by the library. Here they will have an opportunity to rest, make social calls, receive visitors and parents, hold teas and engage in other club activities.

A private dining room annex to the university cafeteria is now being fitted up for use by groups from the university or town.

Fine Arts Moved to Presser Hall

The department of fine arts, under the direction of Mrs. Alice Ensign Webb, is now located on the third floor of Presser Hall, where it will have its studios and classroom work this year.

Ohio Northern to Share in Endowment Proceeds with Ohio Wesleyan

The joint endowment drive of Ohio Northern and Ohio Wesleyan Universities in the Cincinnati district of the Methodist Church is now under way.

Dr. David H. Bailey, vice-president of Ohio Northern, met with representatives of Ohio Wesleyan and committeemen of the various churches for a conference banquet at Cincinnati. At this conference the final details of the campaign were worked out.

Dr. Robert Williams, acting president of the university, spoke in two of the larger churches on Sunday, October 13, and in two other churches on Sunday, October 20.

Dr. Bailey is spending each Sunday in Cincinnati in the interest of the campaign, speaking in different churches and helping to arrange the details of the week-day work.

A minimum goal of $70,000 is being sought, to be apportioned between the two universities. The Ohio Northern share will go to the support of the Theodore S. Henderson department of religious education. Approximately forty churches and pastors are included in the Cincinnati area.

Seniors Elect Class Heads

After considerable balloting, the Senior Class elected the following officers:

Robert Biggs, engineering student, was elected president of the senior class. Mr. Biggs is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, a letterman on the football team, and a popular student on the campus. His home is at Elyria.

Miss Pauline Bernstein of the liberal arts college is vice-president. Miss Bernstein has been an active member of the International Club and other university organizations. She lives in Cleveland. Harry Erick, a pharmacy student from New Haven, Ind., is the secretary. He is a member of the Kappa Psi fraternity. The treasurer is Neil Kennedy, a senior lawyer from Chicago. Mr. Kennedy is an officer of the Theta Kappa Phi fraternity and one of the most widely known students at Ohio Northern.

Many Fail to Meet Entrance Requirements

There are approximately 900 students at Northern this quarter, a careful check-up disclosed. Although final figures are not yet complete, a census of the classes secured from the registrar's office shows 840, with an allowance of 60 for students not classified.

Dr. Robert Williams, president of the university, made an appeal to the students to complete all of the details of registration in order that exact figures may be determined. Late entrants were requested to register without delay.

The enrolment by classes is as follows:

Freshmen:
Men	274
Women	89	363

Sophomores:

Men	115
Women	60	175

Juniors:

Men	159
Women	34	193

Seniors:

Men	90
Women	19	109
Total		840

The decrease in the number of seniors is accounted for by the fact that second year students in the two-year course for primary teachers are no longer given senior standing. They are classified with the sophomores.

The total above does not include special students enrolled in the various departments. Not being candidates for degrees, they are not listed in the regular census of the classes.

There are 538 men and 202 women in the four classes. This disparity between sexes, in the ratio of about three to one, is normal, having existed at the university for the last ten years.

A comparison of this year's class census with that of last year shows a decrease in attendance of 150. At least half of that number were refused entrance into the university because of poor high school records or probation records.

Debate Team Starts Work

Eleven men were recently elected to the Ohio Northern intercollegiate forensic teams. Five of the successful candidates won their debate keys in last year's contests.

The men appointed by the faculty committee on intercollegiate debate are: Sidney A. Eisenberg, Claude Ewing, L. L. Crawford, Curtis Johnson, Sam McClain, Glenn Ball, Claude Ebner, W. H. Holbein, V. Hainen, W. Huebner and E. R. Tople. The members of the committee are: Professors W. E. Binkley, A. B. C. Deming, C. H. Freeman, W. Gray and H. J. Weber.

Extensive and intensive practice sessions are being held twice a week with the Ohio conference question under consideration, faculty advisor W. E. Binkley announced. The question to be used this year is: "Resolved, that the present extent of modern advertising is to be deplored."

RELIGIOUS JOURNALISM

By REV. D. CARL YODER

After a number of requests for an article on the work which he is doing in the field of journalism, the Rev. D. Carl Yoder has at last taken seriously our requests and has written an article on "Religious Journalism" for the Alumnus, which we are printing below. He puts the blame for having to write the article on one of his dearest O. N. U. classmates, Mr. L. E. St. John. Mr. Yoder is Manager and Editor of the International Religious News Service with offices at 1831 Sheldon Avenue, East Cleveland, Ohio.

One of the most fertile fields for religious work is in the realm of religious journalism. Magazines, the public press, and literature in general increasingly welcomes religious articles, news, features and art.

The public is reading daily newspapers first, magazines second and more or less good books third. If moral and religious material is not furnished the printer, then material not so good will be used for the mill in grinding out its grist daily; the seed thoughts of America are sown through the public press. Sow criminal news and we shall reap a harvest of criminals; our crime wave is due to crime thoughts.

Who will direct the thinking of the masses? During the world war, military leaders projected through the public press the fighting spirit. We hear much today of world peace. Shall we not for the sake of world peace project through the public press the spirit of peace and good will? Religion furnishes the source for material which religious leaders use in preparing acceptable copy that will work for human brotherhood just as effectively as the fighting spirit was worked a few years in the past.

Here is a call for service that is as urgent as any religious call can be; a call not to be entered into lightly; so technical are the requirements that the call involves thoughtful preparation. It is a good omen that already many colleges are offering courses in journalism. Christian colleges ought to furnish courses in religious journalism.

The field is so inviting that someone must pioneer while others are getting ready to do the work better in the future. Some of these convictions have seized the writer and have led him to make an attempt at the job.

It was a natural tendency from youth, a sort of a newspaper instinct, to cooperate with editors in furnishing copy as opportunity offered. In the pastorate, we published a monthly periodical; while director of religious education in the Cleveland Council of Religious Education, not only did we edit a monthly periodical but we furnished religious news for the Cleveland dailies. After several years of voluntary service, we were requested to develop a church page, the plan of which was pronounced practical for any daily if it worked.

During vacation periods the Cleveland plan of a page in the interests of religious education was tried out in a dozen cities and there was such a call for more time in this pioneer work that full time was required for the work which now covers the superintending of church pages in seventy newspapers, sufficient copy being furnished to fill an eight column daily page.

The plan is worked with the ministers of the city, they furnishing such copy as is usually furnished for the Saturday issue. Some of the copy furnished to round out the page consists of an appealing church attendance article, a column of world religious news that all should know to be intelligent, a church forum—a plan for solving church problems, a religious editorial which applies some Christian principles to current issues, a home education story which suggests ways and means for improving the home program, sermon sentences, religious thought in trite sayings, a Bible exposition, a book review, and practical discussion questions, the answers to be found in Bible study.

To make a success of the religious page, someone is trained in each city to look after the details of the page and see to it that there is no failure in making it a success.

This is but a little beginning in a great field of opportunity. If the religious leaders of our country could capture the public press with the good news of the gospel, it would not take long to transform the character of the nation for "As a man thinketh, so is he" would be a verified fact and the angels would sing again, "Peace on earth, good will to men."

Northern's New Dean of Women

Ohio Northern's new dean of women is to be Miss Audrey Kenyon Wilder of the department of English at Albion college. She will succeed Mrs. Mary L. Herring, the retiring dean, at the opening of the fall quarter.

Miss Wilder is a graduate of Albion high school and of Albion college with the degree of bachelor of arts. She has the degree of master of arts from Columbia University. In addition she has studied a year beyond the master's degree in Columbia and Chicago Universities. She also has to her credit a summer of study at Oxford University, England, in the special summer school for American students. Travel abroad has enriched her fine training. She has taught seven years at Albion. While in college she acted as editor of the Pleiad and for a time was city editor of the Recorder.

During her term of service at Albion, Miss Wilder has been active in the civic affairs of the community. For several years she was chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee on city beautification. She will be a splendid addition to the life of Ada because of her civic record and interests in local activities.

Miss Wilder is very popular in Albion. She holds membership in the Daughters of the American Revolution, is a member of the national sorority, Delta Gamma, and is at present alumnae chairman of the central district of Delta Gamma, having eleven states under her supervision. She is, in addition, a member of the American Association of University Women, the E. L. T. club, and the Review club.

It is evident that Miss Wilder will bring to Ohio Northern as dean of women great social charm, a splendid personality, and fine collegiate connections and training for her important position. Young enough to understand the problems of the modern college woman, yet mature enough to command respect and loyalty, it is confidently expected that Miss Wilder will do a great work for Ohio Northern women and will bring additional strength to the department of English in the university.

In regard to Miss Wilder's appointment, Dr. John L. Seaton, president of Albion college, said in the June 11 edition of the Albion Recorder:

"I very much regret to lose Miss Audrey Wilder from Albion college. However, I believe that she has in a high degree all the qualities needed in a dean of women and that under the leadership of Dean Williams, Ohio Northern offers her a real opportunity. When, therefore, Dean Williams asked my consent to the opening of negotiations with her, I both consented and approved, although knowing that we should find it difficult to replace Miss Wilder."

Frosh Girls Entertained at Festival

More than eighty freshman girls were entertained at an informal luncheon recently in Philo Hall with the O. N. U. Women's Club acting as hostesses. The program for this first freshman reception for girls ever held on Northern campus was arranged by a committee headed by Mrs. T. J. Smull, chairman.

The girls were guests of the club at the Lehr movie after the luncheon.

It is planned to continue this practice in future years, according to the leaders of the O. N. U. Women's Club. "We are highly enthusiastic over the response given our organization by the freshman girls in helping make this reception a success. We hope that next year our club can further co-operate in welcoming the new girls as students of O. N. U.," Mrs. Smull said.

The officers of the O. N. U. Women's Club, which sponsored this reception, are: Mrs. T. J. Smull, president; Miss Ethel Elliott, secretary, and Mrs. E. E. Long, treasurer.

CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY FOR SMULL

Building Committee of Engineering Advisory Com

A drive to raise funds for the construction of the Thomas J. Smull Engineering Building is under way. The opening gun was fired on October 10, when Professor Guy H. Elbin, serving as secretary of the Building Committee as well as the Engineering Advisory Committee of Ohio Northern, mailed an attractive four-page illustrated folder to a list of 1,000 engineering alumni. The folder was accompanied by a letter from Wm. H. Wheeler (CE '14), who is Chairman of the Building Committee.

The printed folder sets forth the necessity for more extensive shop and laboratory facilities, if the College of Engineering is to keep pace with other engineering schools of Ohio. The illustrations draw a silent but forceful comparison between our present meager equipment and the equipment and facilities at the disposal of other schools with which Ohio Northern must compete for students.

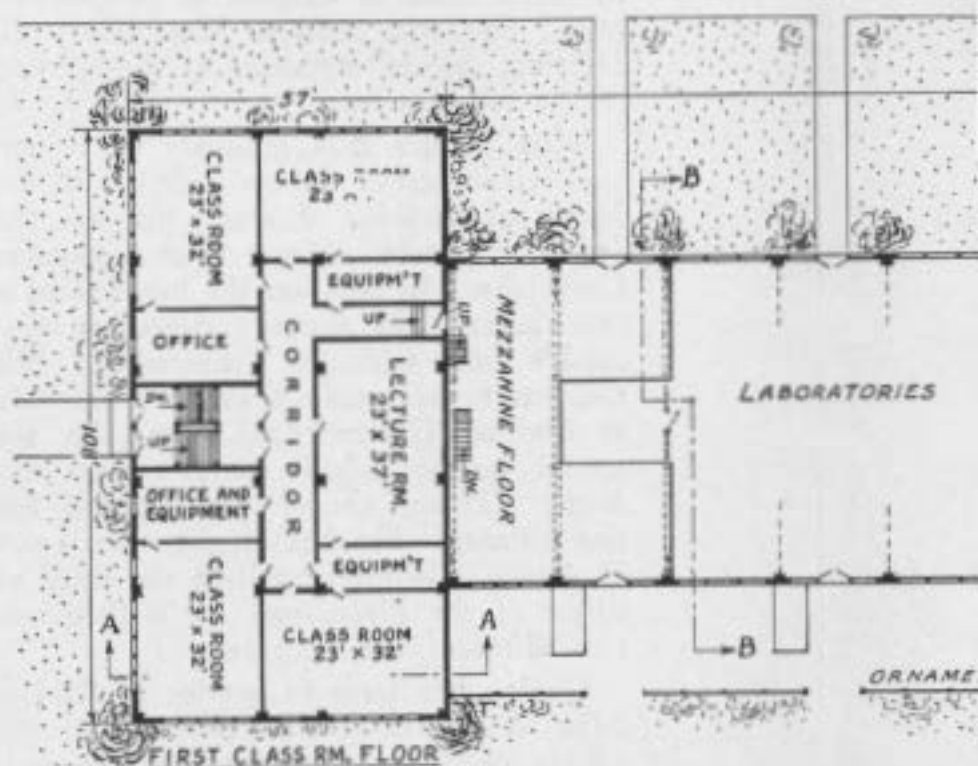

Our full-page illustration of the plan of the proposed building shows the general arrangement of the facilities. The shop and laboratory portion provides about 14,000 square feet of floor space, and the foundry about 2,000 square feet. About 5,000 square feet of additional laboratory space will be available in the basement of the classroom building. The first floor of the classroom building will have four class rooms and one lecture room, while the top floor will have two class rooms and a large drafting room. All class rooms and the lecture room will have connecting offices and equipment rooms. The facilities shown are expected to meet the requirements of the College of Engineering for some years to come. The estimated cost is $175,000.

The campaign for funds to erect this building is being conducted by a complete organization. The engineering alumni are divided into fifteen groups, or regions, each in charge of a Regional Chairman. The Chairman is assisted by other engineering alumni in the region, designated as Field Workers.

An interesting feature of the campaign consists of a four-page printed bulletin, published twice a month (beginning with November 1) and mailed to all engineering alumni on the mailing list. This bulletin is expected to consolidate the engineering alumni, besides keeping them informed of the progress of the campaign. Reports printed in the bulletin will show the quota for each region and the amount subscribed.

According to the schedule mapped out, the building is to be constructed during the summer of 1930, thereby placing at least the foundry and the shop and laboratory portion into service in the Fall Quarter of next year.

Wm. H. Wheeler, Chairman of the Building Committee, is professor of structural engineering at Washington University, St. Louis. His home is at 729 Newport Avenue, Webster Groves, Mo. The Secretary-Treasurer of the committee is Professor Guy H. Elbin, 764 N. Main Street, Ada, Ohio. The Chairman of the Engineering Advisory Committee is Norman M. Stineman, 33 W. Grand Avenue, Chicago.

The campaign for the Smull Engineering Building Fund represents the first major activity of the Engineering Advisory Committee. The decision to name the structure after Dr. Smull has met with enthusiastic approval, for in this action the alumni are giving well-deserved recognition to the energetic spirit of the man who has long carried heavy responsibilities on his shoulders.

Miss Helen L. Pohle, Madison, Wis., was named to succeed Benjamin F. Culler as instructor in French and German. She received both her A. B. and M. A. degrees at the University of Wisconsin. She also did graduate work at Columbia and Chicago Universities.

Miss Pohle has had seven years of successful teaching in college. She was instructor in French at Missouri Wesleyan in 1926-27.

For the past two years Miss Pohle has been studying abroad. She spent a year in the University of Grenoble, France, and a summer at the Centrode Historicos, Estudios, Madrid, Spain. She has been a student at the University of Heidelberg, Germany, for the past year.

Miss Alma Stambaugh, Ada, has been appointed to assist Mrs. Alice Ensign Webb as instructor in the fine arts department. She is a graduate of Ada High School and Ohio Northern. She was also graduated in home economics at Penn Hall and was an art student at Drexel Institute.

Miss Z. LaVerne Daring of Toledo has been appointed assistant to the treasurer, and Miss Elizabeth Myers to succeed Mrs. Mildred Cramer, assistant to the registrar.

Miss Daring is a graduate of Waite High School, commercial, 1924. She won a scholarship at the University of Chicago, where she studied in 1924-25. She was later graduated from Ohio State University with the degree of B. Sc. in business administration and accounting.

Since graduation she has received additional instruction at the University of Chicago and the University of Toledo. She is to receive her master's degree from Ohio State this year.

Miss Myers, who has been employed as assistant to the registrar, is a graduate of Ada High School and Ohio Northern University. She completed her course in commerce at the university this summer.

Miss Ruth Bornman will assist Miss Mildred Bruckheimer in the women's department of physical education.

Miss Bornman is a graduate of Sargent Physical Education School of Cambridge, Mass., and has also studied for one year at Adelphia College, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Previous to coming to Ohio Northern she taught in the public schools of Boston.

Miss Bornman is now working toward her B. S. degree at Northern, planning to graduate this May. In the meantime she will assist Miss Bruckheimer.

Day of Reckoning Arrives So Primer Students Can Do Their Stuff

Tuesday, October 1, marked the opening date for the enforcement of freshman rules, and upper classmen subjected the new collegians to their initial test on knowledge of the O. N. U. songs and yells.

In previous years the enforcement of these rules has varied in extreme proportions, being exceptionally harsh in some instances and again very lax in other years.

The sophomore class have by tradition been the chief instigators in the enforcement of freshman rules in former years, but all upper classmen are supposed to watch that the rules are properly enforced.

The regulations for freshman observance now in effect and subject to enforcement are:

1. Do not appear on the campus without wearing your freshman cap any day, except Sunday. This rule can be abrogated only for a formal university function.

2. Freshmen (either sex) shall not wear any high school insignia.

3. Freshmen shall always respond to any request for assistance by managers of varsity teams.

4. Freshmen must occupy the cheering section at all outdoor intercollegiate contests.

5. After October 1 any freshman (both sexes) must be ready to repeat two college songs or three college yells at the request of any upper classman.

6. No freshman (either sex) shall congregate in the lobby of any building on the campus immediately prior to any public exercise.

7. Freshmen shall not enter any building on the campus at any time without uncovering the head.

8. Keep off the center walk in front of Lehr Building and do not enter the Lehr Building by the front door; use the side doors!

Student Body Enlightened on Change of College Dancing Rule

Interpretation of the revised rules as outlined on the new matriculation card this quarter allow Northern students to participate in a limited measure of dancing, according to an announcement made by acting president Robert Williams.

Previously students were prohibited under university rulings from attending either public or private dances. Now the regulation reads: Students are not permitted to attend local dances; attend or participate in the promotion of any dance given under the name of any organization of the university.

In his statement Dr. Williams said: "The university will operate for the present under the regulation concerning dancing as printed on the Freshman Matriculation Card. This regulation, which was put in force during the year 1928-29, requires students not to attend local dances.

"This rule also prohibits dances given in the name of any university organization. That is to say, no attempt will be made to control the activities of students in respect to dancing outside of these regulations."

The new president, however, added in explanation of the new measure, "It is expected, of course, that all students while they are under the government of the university will interpret the regulation so as to bring no discredit upon themselves or the university.

"The conduct as exercised under this new ruling will govern its being permitted to remain in the recently changed form," the president concluded.

Dr. A. S. McKittrick Moves to Elyria

After years of successful practice in Kenton, during which time he has become an integral part of the community, Dr. A. S. McKittrick has announced that he will transfer his residence to Elyria, where he will continue his surgical work.

He opened his new office in Elyria about September 1, and will return to Kenton from time to time to visit former patients there.

Dr. McKittrick, a graduate of Ohio Northern, was the founder and surgeon of the McKittrick Hospital, now owned by the McKittrick Hospital Company, and has also been serving as surgeon at the Antonio Hospital in Kenton. His long service has won the respect and admiration of the people of the county, who will greatly regret his leaving Kenton.

Northern's 1929 football season got off to a good start, the Polar Bears taking the curtain-raiser by defeating Bluffton 6-0. This game was considered an unofficial practice game as both coaches were on the field and did considerable experimenting with their respective teams.

The score:

O. N. U. 0 6 0 0—6
 Bluffton 0 0 0 0—0

The heavy Washington and Jefferson football machine smashed through the lighter Ohio Northern team throughout the second game, which was played at Washington, Pa., the final score being 33-0. Early in the game two costly fumbles by the Polar Bears were promptly turned into touchdowns by the Presidents. Northern held her opponents to one touchdown in each of the remaining three periods. At one point in the game W. & J.'s goal was threatened, but Northern was finally stopped on the ten-yard line. Clark and Bolch played well for Northern.

The score:

W. & J. 14 6 6 7—33
 O. N. U. 0 0 0 0—0

In a contest before 10,000 customers, Northern played a hard fast game at night on the illuminated Carson Field at Cincinnati. Both teams scored in the first period with no further scoring until the final period, when Northern was penalized 35 yards for some infraction of the rules, which brought the ball to Northern's 5-yard line. From this point Cincinnati pushed the ball over for her final score. Playing a prominent part for Northern in this game was Clark's punting, Long and Warren's ball carrying, and Gutnecht, the big center's defense work.

The score:

Cincinnati . . . 6 0 0 6—12
 O. N. U. 6 0 0 0—6

Playing against Cedarville the Polar Bears rolled up a score of 26-6 against the team coached by "Shifty" Bolen, a former coach at Northern. Northern made 17 first downs to 5 for Cedarville. Von Duyke and Gallant each scored two touchdowns for Northern by fine line plunging. Clark also did some fine punting, getting as much as 45 yards on some of his kicks.

The score:

O. N. U. 13 0 7 6—26
 Cedarville . . . 0 0 6 0—6

It was not until well toward the end of the fourth period in its homecoming game with Otterbein that the Polar Bears really started to play real football. The two touchdowns scored by Northern were indirectly due to the daring runs made by Dick Long. Our star fullback will be out of athletics until after Christmas. Unfortunately in a play during the final minutes of the game a small bone was broken in his right foot.

Other members of the team who showed to advantage in that memorable fourth period were Craig, Bolch and Gutnecht with his wonderful forward passing.

The score:

Northern 0 0 0 12—12
 Otterbein 0 6 0 7—13

Bears Beaten by Muskingum

Pankow Leads Field by Lap, But Northern Suffers a 26-29 Defeat

Northern's cross country runners suffered their first defeat of the season, losing to Muskingum on the Polar Bears' own course by the close score of 29 to 26.

Pankow, Northern's star, veteran runner, came in first, far in advance of the rest of the field, running the four miles in the remarkably good time of 22 minutes and 12 seconds. Shoop, a sophomore, running his first varsity run, made a name for himself when he finished in fourth place closely behind the two Muskingum runners, Michaels and Haxstine, who took second and third places after vainly trying to keep up with Pankow. Stewart, another veteran from last year's squad, took fifth place, beating out by a good margin the runners bearing the Muskingum colors, who came in closely bunched, finishing in sixth, seventh and eighth places. Northern took ninth and tenth places due to the good work of Connelly and Barnes.

Much credit is due these fellows for their good showing because of the inexperience of several members on the team. Northern's fans may be sure that with a little more practice these men will give a good account of themselves in the Big Six meet at Muskingum on November 16.

Following is the order of finish:

- | | |
|----------------|------------------|
| 1. Pankow—N. | 6. Towl—M. |
| 2. Michaels—M. | 7. Sutherland—M. |

Pankow Breaks Record

The Polar Bears' cross country team suffered its second defeat at the hands of the Michigan State Normal team between halves of the football game at Homecoming. The visitors captured 20 points to 38 points rolled up by the Orange and Black team. Pankow, captain of the Bears, stepped over the 4.2 mile course in the exceptionally good time of 21:35, breaking the course record of 22:05 held by Anderson, a former Northern athlete.

Northern's athletes need not feel downhearted because the visiting team was recently victorious over the strong University of Michigan team by a larger score than they were able to get against the Polar Bear runners.

The results of the cross country meet were as follows:

- Pankow, first, O. N. U., 21:35.
 Bower, second, Mich., 21:44.
 O'Connor, third, Mich., 22:27.

- Marcombo, fourth, Mich., 23:37.
 Criger, fifth, Mich., 23:37.
 Wolfe, sixth, Mich., 23:37.
 Stewart, seventh, O. N. U., 23:50.
 Buholt, eighth, Mich., 25:5.
 Connolly, ninth, O. N. U., 25:31.
 Morrow, tenth, O. N. U., 25:50.
 Barnes, eleventh, O. N. U., 26:28.

Northern Alumnus Appointed at Case

Ames Campbell, former all-around athlete at Ohio Northern, is the latest addition to the Case coaching staff. His appointment as an assistant football and basketball coach and head swimming instructor was announced by Case officials early this fall.

The addition of Campbell gives Case four grid mentors, Head Coach Bob Fletcher also being assisted by Jack Glidden and Claude Sharer, athletic director.

At Ohio Northern, Campbell won letters in football, basketball and track during each of three seasons, earning nine major sport awards during his athletic career, which closed in 1927. For the last two years he has been head coach at Mount Victory, Ohio, High School.

In addition to helping with football and basketball, Campbell intends to increase swimming interest at Case. He is a Red Cross examiner and has been in charge of a pool at Princeton, Ind.

Long Heads Varsity "N"

Richard Long of Ada, stellar Ohio Northern athlete, was elected president of the Varsity "N" Association at a recent meeting. Other officers elected for the year are: "Ed" Stickles, vice-president; "Swede" Melkerson, secretary, and Robert Carpenter, treasurer.

"Bill" Dailey Goes to Mud Hens

Willard Dailey of Danville, 1929 graduate of Ohio Northern and one of the best collegiate centerfielders at Northern in years, has been annexed to the Toledo Mud Hens athletic club.

The Mud Hens are a team in the American Association of the minor leagues. Mr. Dailey was given his first workout with the regulars this fall.

What a Game

In its column "A Backward Glance," the Ada Herald reminds us that twenty-five years ago the Ohio Northern football team piled up a score of 117 to 0 in 33 minutes of play against St. Mary's in the first game of the season.

More Publicity

Talk about publicity for Ohio Northern! M. E. Garlinger of San Francisco recently sent to Ada friends the first page of the San Francisco Call Bulletin of Saturday, September 21, "pink" edition. Bold lined under "Very Latest News" in a box printed in red ink is the report, "Ohio Northern Wins—Bluffton, Ohio, Sept. 21 (AP)—Ohio Northern University defeated Bluffton College 6 to 0 here today." This means that the news of that game was "on the street" in San Francisco within two hours after the final whistle blew. The rotary presses of large newspapers are now fitted with an arrangement that enables them to insert a bulletin in red ink on their first page and have the papers on the street in less than five minutes after the "flash" reaches the office.

"Red" Money's Team to Have 3 Night Games

When the Panther football team took the field to do battle with Lindsey-Wilson College at Hanover, Ind., recently, it was the beginning of head coach "Red" Money's third year as athletic director and coach at Hanover College. After graduating from Ohio Northern in 1923, "Red" served as athletic director and coach for two years at the Vandergrift, Pa., High School, moving from there to Grandview Heights, Columbus, where he coached until accepting the position at Hanover College three years ago.

Since going to Hanover, "Red" has built up a strong department in athletics and intramurals. The past year the intramural sports reached all but five boys in the entire school and the athletic teams finished higher than has been the custom in a number of years. The basketball team was rated third in the state in the number of wins.

Through his efforts the athletic field has been much improved and giant floodlights have been installed on the football field for the purpose of playing night football. Twenty-eight 1,500-watt lights make the field as light as day. Hanover is the first college in Indiana to install lights and play night games. They have three night games scheduled for Hanover.

When Northern and Reserve Battled to 5-5 Tie

In a resume of "Forty Years of Football at Western Reserve," in the Cleveland Press, Ohio Northern is spoken of as a formidable opponent.

Discussing a game between Northern and Reserve, back in 1904, which ended in a 5-5 tie, the article says: "There was a powerful outfit at Ada that fall; it had scored in Michigan's point-a-minute steam roller and was the most feared of all Ohio schools.

"Old-timers who were on the sidelines that day still hark back to the struggle as one of the most thrilling ever played in the state, with a climax that would do justice to a tale of fiction.

"Northern led until a few moments before the final whistle when Tom Boyle of Reserve scampered 110 yards for the touchdown that tied the score.

"It was in the same contest that Steve Metzger of Reserve chased his brother, who was carrying the ball for Ohio Northern, almost to the goal line and explained later on that he didn't have the heart to tackle him. Had not one of Steve's teammates rushed past him and made the tackle the score might have been 10 to 5 in favor of Northern, a touchdown netting five points in those days."

An interesting party held on Friday, July 26, at the home of Mrs. Cass Ireland, 1124 West Elm Street, Lima, brought together a group of members of the Theta Phi Delta sorority, who attended Ohio Northern University together some years ago.

A luncheon was followed by bridge.

Guests were: Mrs. Harry Turner, Forest; Mrs. Jack Meighan, Chicago; Mrs. Kirk Mee, Oxford; Mrs. Charles Volkening, Hempstead, Long Island; Mrs. John Varga, Mrs. Charles Ash, Mrs. Chauncey Cook, Lima; Mrs. Ben Conner, Mrs. George Stambaugh, Mrs. Clarence Hindall and Mrs. Harry Sousley, Ada.

Thirty-nine graduates of the Warren G. Harding College of Law, Ohio Northern University, successfully passed the state bar examination given in Columbus in June.

A total of 405 Ohio law students out of 707 applicants passed the examination, 42.7 per cent failing. Ohio Northern's percentage of failures was about 7 per cent lower than the general average.

One woman, Mrs. Bernadette Russell Hines of Kenton, was among the successful candidates from this university.

California Reunion Is Well Attended

The meeting place next year is Ganesha Park, Pomona, California, and these meetings are always held on the first Sunday after Labor Day.

Secretary Routson says, "If you are coming to Southern California, or if you live here and have never attended one of these reunions, be sure and send your name and address to the secretary and start now to plan to be at Pomona next year. There will be an entertainment committee, consisting of Ethel Simpson, F. W. Parsons and Paul Scoles, who will plan to make it a great day."

Pittsburgh Alumni Hold Semi-Annual Meeting

The alumni of the Pittsburgh district will remember for some time to come the pleasant evening spent together with Dr. Robert Williams, president of Ohio Northern University, on November 1 at the Fort Pitt Hotel. No doubt the enthusiasm so in evidence at this meeting originated in the committee who had charge of the occasion, as will be noted from the "peppy" notice below which was sent out to the members of the Pittsburgh chapter.

OHIO NORTHERN UNIVERSITY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

SENATOR FRANK B. WILLIS CHAPTER
Pittsburgh, Pa.

October 10, 1929.

Dear Fellow Alumnus and Former Student:

THIS IS THE ANNOUNCEMENT YOU HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR. It is to be an OCCASION EXTRAORDINARY. It has been arranged for just when you want it—two weeks before HOMECOMING and four weeks before Thanksgiving. All conflicting dates are thus ironed out and the way is wide open for US (you, yours, your friends, and children) to attend en masse.

Our "BIGGEST EVER" semi-annual meeting will be held Friday evening, November 1, 1929, at the Fort Pitt Hotel, Pittsburgh. Your officers and committees have obtained our new president, Dr. Robert Williams—just back from a summer's lecture tour in Europe, and direct from his job of "making Ohio Northern bigger and better" (his words)—as the ONE and ONLY speaker. In accepting our invitation he writes:

"I shall be very happy indeed to do all I can to form real contacts and get acquainted with the alumni."

President Williams desires to tell YOU of the plans for Northern's future and the improved standards and standing of YOUR Alma Mater. He wants to meet YOU personally and to talk with YOU. (He's a real speaker.) Will you give him the opportunity? We believe you will, for not one of us can afford to miss meeting Northern's New Leader—and besides, think of the dinner and good fellowship.

Tell others, please, and help us make this the biggest O. N. U. alumni meeting ever held in Pittsburgh District. MEET, GREET and EAT with us; let nothing prevent, and you'll never regret it. If there ever was an opportunity "to get on the map" in alumni-educational circles, this is IT. Be the "early bird."

Cordially and fraternally,

S. A. RINGER, President,
33 Pasadena St., Pittsburgh.

JOHN A. SLONAKER, Secy.-Treas.,
625 Greendale Ave., Edgewood, Pa.
